Sykehouse Village Hall - Coffee Morning Report (Kay Kirk) 27th July 2010

The LINK held a coffee morning at the Sykehouse Village Hall where a good day was had by all and the star of the show was Marjorie Gilson who welcomed all attending LINK volunteers.

The event was a good opportunity for members to raise LINK awareness within our rural communities and two new members were recruited.

The LINK was informed of the difficulties villages can have accessing the internet. A volunteer invited Marjorie Gilson to become a LINK member whereupon she agreed to be the LINK contact point in Sykehouse, issuing newsletters/information to the locals wherever possible.

It was a friendly atmosphere where LINK volunteers handed out tea, coffee and biscuits and discussed the role of the LINK.
